

TUITION AND FEES 2022/2023

The University understands that the Doctor of Medicine program requires substantial resources. We offer this worksheet as a personal budgeting resource to international applicants who do not have access to US Department of Education Title IV funding or funding from an agency or government outside the US. Please note that students should not expect to support themselves through employment while attending the University.

DEPOSIT AND PAYMENT INFORMATION

In order to secure your seat and confirm your enrollment at St. George's University, you must submit a deposit along with your signed Acknowledgment of Admission. This deposit will be applied toward your tuition and is non-refundable. Deposit amounts vary across programs, and due dates for each payment vary based on date of acceptance. After you submit your deposit, you can check your Student Self-Service Account for your payment balance.

Tuition is billed each term.

All deposit payments can be made by check, money order, bank wire, or as a commercial deposit within any Bank of America branch. After the initial deposit, you may pay via credit card, or if you have a US checking or savings bank account you can make an Automated Clearing House (ACH) payment using your Student Self-Service Account.

Once you have paid your deposit and received instructions to access your Student Self-Service Account, you will be able to view your official bill and financial aid status.

- Student using a US bank account will also have the ability to pay their remaining balance through Student Self-Service.
- All other students will need to use the payment methods above to settle their account.

ADDITIONAL ESTIMATED ANNUAL LIVING EXPENSES

It is suggested that students review the remaining items in the cost of attendance below in order to assess their ability to fund their entire education. Living and travel expenses will vary amongst each individual's country of origin and lifestyle choices. However, it is important to understand additional costs that may be incurred and plan for these expenses if needed.
